2nd May 2017

Dublin – DNG announced the opening of their latest branch in North Dublin earlier this morning, with the old doctor’s surgery in Raheny being given a new lease of life.

DNG Raheny officially opened this week and will be headed up by Branch Manager, Wayne O’Brien. With years of experience working in our branch in Fairview, Wayne brings his local knowledge and expertise to the local residents of Dublin 5, 13 and North County Dublin.

“DNG have become the market leader in North Dublin over the last number of years. We are delighted to open up in Raheny as we have been searching for the right premises for a number of years. Our new branch in Raheny will strengthen our position in North Dublin and will work closely with our existing branches in Fairview and Phibsboro.”

Keith Lowe, DNG CEO

DNG Raheny is located on the prominent corner of the Howth Road and Watermill Road and will handle sales within their core local area with a particular emphasis on Raheny, Sutton, Artane, Donaghmede, Portmarnock and Malahide. As one of the market leaders in Dublin, this latest branch will complement DNG’s existing local presence with branches in nearby Fairview and Phibsboro.
